THE BIGGEST LOSER CHALLENGE 2015

'The Biggest Loser' isn't a title that most people would like to have, but a group of employees from ANSA McAL's Head Office, Tatil/Tatil Life and ANSA Merchant Bank recently competed to get this title. Why you might ask? These companies recently came together and held a weight loss competition entitled 'The Biggest Loser Challenge 2015.' Participating employees signed up with all their relevant size and weight measurements along with a registration fee. Each registrant was responsible for their own weight loss techniques, such as diet and exercise, however the competition promoted safe and healthy choices. After 12 weeks the person who had lost the highest percentage of body fat was announced as the winner. Every competition must have a great prize as a motivation right? Well the winner of this competition took home a nice cash prize.

Hats off to Ms. Jiselle Granderson, Executive Assistant to the Group Finance Director for winning The Biggest Loser Challenge 2015.

We spoke to Jiselle about what motivated her to compete in this challenge and what drove her to succeed and this is what she had to say:

CB: What motivated you to take part in this weight loss challenge?

JG: I saw the competition as a win-win situation: if I won then that would've meant that I achieved my weight loss goal and won the cash prize, and if I lost then I would've still lost some sort of weight and taken on the challenge to lead a healthier life. I used the challenge as a push to change my current lifestyle and eating habits. I have a goal for the rest of this year; to get my body back to a point that it hasn't been in for a while. I've continued working toward this even after the competition.

CB: What was the experience like for you?

JG: During the process I was able to do some things that I never before thought possible: staying away from flour (which is my kryptonite), doing a full body pull up on an overhead bar, you should have seen my face when I did it, utter confusion as to "how?!", doing a hand stand, having the discipline to say 'no' to sweets and eating a salad with a smile on my face. It wasn't at all easy but my results then and now are still worth the sacrifice.

CB: Any advice for those of us trying to reach our weight loss/fitness goals?

JG: Once you mentally will it, first, then it's ALL possible. You'll be amazed of what you can do by just willing it into being.

CB: So what did you do with your winnings?

JG: I've actually taken some of my winnings and invested it toward some of my favourite health and fitness activities, and stuff I never did prior, such as cross-fit and rappelling. I'm still expanding my list of activities and looking out for paragliding in August and some upcoming 5K's.
