Mr. Ian Galt, Sector Head of Services; Mr. Kashta Ome, Industrial Relations Manager and Claudia Charles, Retail Sector Performer, Standard Distribution Limited dished out some great advice to the recruits about the Group’s culture and their work experiences. Participants had the opportunity to view the extensive, “Welcome to the World of ANSA McAL” video.

Throughout the orientation, employees were invited to give feedback using online voting buttons. The new recruits, clad in colourful bandanas participated in a Sector Expo, where they moved through the room visiting pop-up information booths manned by lead Sector officials.

The ANSA McAL Jeopardy Quiz Game, which is a take on America’s favourite show, was hosted by popular TV personality, Wendell Etienne. The contest had competitors and the audience in fits of competitive excitement.

The sessions was certainly informative and created quite a bit of buzz based on feedback received.

Corporate Governance Training

The Parent Board took the initial step in April by participating in a two day workshop on corporate governance which was facilitated by the Trinidad and Tobago Energy Chamber.

The last corporate governance training session carded for 2016, comprised of some directors on the subsidiary boards in the ANSA McAL Group who received similar training.

Most codes of best practice in Corporate Governance require directors to undergo periodic training to improve their knowledge and skills, so they can become better leaders and change agents of their company.

Therefore, the initiative by Corporate Secretary, Mrs. Frances Bain-Cumberbatch was completely embraced by ANSA McAL's own Executives who participated in workshops. These sessions were facilitated by the Trinidad and Tobago Energy Chamber.

CNC3's Weather Anchor, Seigonie Mohammed Speaks on Teen Suicide

CNC3 news weather anchor, Seigonie Mohammed on November 1st 2016, hosted Caribbean Colour Splash's Secondary School Anti-Bullying Conference at the Naparima Bowl, San Fernando.

Before introducing the keynote speaker, Seigonie related her experience as she opened up to a group of students about contemplating suicide after being bullied in high school. Her touching story brought students to tears.

"I was bullied for a long time in high school. I literally had my hair pulled out sometimes and it became so bad that mentally, emotionally, physically, I was drained and I turned to pills for comfort. I even considered suicide," Seigonie stated. Luckily, she said, her mother, Madge Mohammed, was able to recognise that young Seigonie was struggling through her teenaged years.

"But then, that one person came and saved me and that person was my mother, she is sitting right here with us today," she said as the students applauded. However, Seigonie admitted she was afraid and ashamed to confide in her mother initially. "I didn't know how to tell my mother what I was going through. When you are bullied sometimes you don't want to speak to your parents, you don't want to tell them what's going on. It took a long time for me to gain that trust in her to confide in her." She urged the students to confide in a trusted adult if they ever fall victim to bullies. "You too have that support, whether it be your parents, your grandparents, your aunts and uncles. Find someone you trust and let them know what is going on in your life" she concluded.

Minister of State in the Office of the Prime Minister Ayanna Webster-Roy in her address called on parents and teachers to create safe spaces for children to speak about their feelings in response to two recent reports of teenagers committing suicide.

AMCO Prepares for the Williams Lawson Brand

Alstons Marketing Company Limited (AMCO) Wines and Spirits Division recently hosted a special internal training session to sensitise its sales representatives and marketing agents about the talking points for a brand of scotch that is due to be re-introduced into the local market.

William Lawson is a classic blended Scotch whisky with a sweet, medium-bodied flavour. Made with a high malt content, the blend was first produced in 1849 and was listed as the sixth-best-selling Scotch whisky in the world in 2014, with 3.1 million cases sold.

Plans for marketing and advertising the brand were unveiled to the gathering, even as they shared more ideas and earned incentives based on their knowledge of the product.

In the coming months, the William Lawson brand will be promoted extensively throughout Trinidad and Tobago with high visibility at popular bars, restaurants and in the print, radio and online media.

Grey Goose Lights up Estate 101

AMCO (Alstons Marketing Company Limited) Grey Goose illuminated the night with an epic event, Grey Goose Night Vision at Estate 101, Maraval on Saturday, 19th November 2016. The event featured the Grey Goose LED Limited Edition bottle and Grey Goose signature cocktails, showcasing the various flavors within the Grey Goose portfolio.

The LED bottle which has a switch hidden at the base of the bottle, once activated illuminates the liquid inside the bottle. There are only 180 bottles in total made available for the Trinidad market and will be available at top night clubs.

It is positioned to be a focal point for consumers celebrating the New Year.

According to Mr. Hearn Belford, General Manager, Caribbean Airlines Duty-Free “The product itself is an exclusive product. It’s limited. It’s premium. Everybody who knows Grey Goose knows that this is a premium vodka.

The bottle is different from the regular bottle of Grey Goose. It has an LED light as well and anybody who collects rare and exotic alcohol would want to have one in their collection, like myself.”

Kes the Band rounded out the evening with a live performance, as well as DJs Jugglers International, Nuphoric, Ultra Simmo, and Palmer Grey Goose who all played their parts in creating an atmosphere full of vibes.

ABEL Building Solutions lends support to the Curepe Presbyterian Church in time for Christmas

Abel Building Solution (ABS), a division of the ANSA McAL Group companies was pleased to contribute towards the initiative of the Curepe Presbyterian Church to restore the northern side of the church compound.

The church has been experiencing an ongoing problem during the rainy season, resulting in slush and a waterlogged area, making it difficult to use the church grounds.

ABS donated approximately two thousand brick pavers to enable proper parking for the church goers. This newly paved area will also assist the pupils of Curepe Presbyterian School to conduct various activities.
